Designation: UX Designer

Public-i is passionate about developing the best possible products and features for our clients. We are looking to hire a UX Designer to continue in our quest to provide great user experience for our clients.

About the job:

As the UX designer, you will be responsible for continuing great user experience across our products and all touch points with our users.

You will work closely with the product owner to help shape the design decisions, from ideation through to planning. You will map out user journeys, mental models, use a variety of visual aids to help shape a feature and enable stakeholders to make informed decisions. You will work as part of the multi-functional Agile Development Team, creating detailed user interface and interaction designs using tools like Axure.

You will have:

- A proven experience (2 years minimum) within the UX field, with demonstrable skills via portfolio, with the focus on in-house product development.

- A well-rounded skill set across the UX spectrum.

- Experience with facilitating meetings/workshops to gather desired outcomes.

- Be able to iterate your designs and solutions efficiently and intelligently.

- An ability to work comfortable in an Agile environment, collaborating closely with developers and product owners, to reach exciting solutions to challenging problems.

- An ability to articulate and explain your thinking and design decisions and be an excellent negotiator with technical and business stakeholders.

- Have extensive experience in using UX design best practices to design solutions, with a deep understanding of mobile-first and responsive design.

You should be a hands-on practitioner who is able to work on detailed and technical solutions without losing sight of the bigger picture.

You will be able to communicate clearly and persuasively and giving simple explanations to complicated matters. You will tailor your presentations to the audience's needs and abilities to ensure the key facts are presented accurately.

You will be able to plan, prioritise and orgainse your workload to achieve the objectives set within the timeframes for delivery.

More about us:

Public-i is the leading provider of webcast streaming software and digital engagement solutions for the public sector. We are passionate about our products and about great user experience.

We are an ethically minded company that values the people we work with and are focussed and committed to creating a good working environment.

We value creativity, encourage innovation and we find having fun is essential! This is an opportunity to develop your career and be part of an exciting office in the heart of Hove. We offer training and career development, contributory company pensions scheme, 20 to 25 days' holiday along with additional Christmas closure, child care vouchers, summer outings and Friday drinks.

Send your CV to Jane at recruitment@public-i.info and also let us know why you are the right person to join our team.